Westlake & Westridge Electoral Roll 1935

House Camp in 1914 was in the vicinity of Kingston's present Giles Street and thirty or forty labourers lived there in tents in fairly primitive conditions. About a third of the men were Catholics; and today a few of them remain to tell of the hardship and struggles in those days. Mr Joseph O'Neill, now of Yarralumla, survives and is brimful of memories and anecdotes and despite his age, he can regale a listener for hours in a most entertaining and witty manner... As "Joe" O'Neill puts it, "There was precious little about those days by way of buildings and the like." It appears the Power House was a mighty structure alone and out-of-place in a vast empty area..."Some Sundays we had Mass in the Recreation Hall at Duntroon in those days," Joe O'Neill reveals, "and it was a tidy walk across the flat. I remember the two altar boys, the Chapman lads, fine boys both of them, and a credit to their father, Austin Chapman, the Federal Member for Eden-Monaro. Talking about Austin Chapman - he became Sir Austin later on, you know - well my uncle Patrick O'Neill was a kind of secretary and went all over the electorate with Austin on political meetings and the like. At a large meeting somewhere...my uncle made a speech of introduction and finished up with "And now I call upon Mr Chapman to address you..." They were his last words as poor uncle dropped dead with heart seizure." Mr O'Neill worked for a time in building the wood and fibro barracks at Duntroon Military College...
